

This file contains information about a chatbot system and its components, as well as privacy and security considerations and dependencies on external services. The components include external entities such as the user and document repository, processes such as the chatbot, data stores such as uploaded documents, and data flows such as user queries and retrieved information. The privacy and security considerations mention the potential risks of uploading sensitive documents and the need for caution and additional measures to protect data. The dependency on external services, frameworks, and APIs is also noted.
